

Jongeun Lee, MD

Jongeun Lee is an instructor in clinical investigation at The Rockefeller University in New York City, NY, USA, where she is a KL2 Clinical Scholar. The KL2 Clinical Scholar program provides a 3-year training experience to prepare physician-scientists and select doctoral-level Ph.D. investigators for independent careers in clinical and patient-oriented translational research.

Dr. Lee's research focuses on inflammatory skin diseases using single-cell and spatial transcriptomic approaches.

She received her MD from Kyungpook National University School of Medicine in South Korea and completed her residency in dermatology at Samsung Medical Center in Seoul, South Korea.